

The map shows the city center of Gießen, Germany. The city is divided into districts, with the city center being the largest. The map also shows the city's location relative to the surrounding region, with the city center being the largest district. The map is color-coded, with different colors representing different districts or areas. The map is a good reference for anyone looking to visit Gießen or move there.